

I am worthy of love and respect

I deserve to be treated with respect

I am not to blame for what has happened to me

I forgive myself and set myself free

I am strong and I will get through this

I let go of fear and doubt, and step boldly into my future

I can do this

My happiness is important

I deserve to have my voice heard and respected

I define my own reality; others do not define it for me